Course and Examination Regulations
valid as of 1 September 2015

Programme-specific section:

Master’s Programme: Arts and Culture

These course and examination regulations have been drawn up in accordance with Section 7.13 of the Higher Education and Research Act [Wet op het hoger onderwijs en wetenschappelijk onderzoek] (WHW) (henceforth the Act) and additional quality marks as set out in the framework document Leiden University Register of Study Programmes [Leids universitair register opleidingen].

Pursuant to Section 7.14 of the Act the Faculty Board regularly evaluates the course and examination regulations and assesses, for the purpose of monitoring and, if necessary, adjusting the study load, the time it takes students to comply with the regulations. In conformity with Section 9.18 of the Act, the department teaching committee is assigned the task of annually assessing how the course and examination regulations are implemented.

These course and examination regulations consist of two sections: a general section that is the same for all programmes and a section that contains information that is specific to a particular programme. This programme-specific section forms a whole with the general section, and only contains the articles with content that is specific to a particular programme.

Article 2.1  Objectives of the Programme

The programme has the following objectives:

1. to enable students to acquire academic knowledge, understanding and skills, and train them in the use of scientific methods in the field of Arts and Culture in general, and in particular with regard to the chosen specialisation;
2. to enable students to develop the following academic and professional skills:
   - independent academic reasoning and conduct,
   - the ability to analyse complex problems,
   - academic reporting;
3. to prepare students for an academic career and further education;
4. to prepare students for a career outside academia.

Article 2.2  Specialisations

The programme has the following specialisations in 2015:
- Architecture
- Art of the Contemporary World and World Art Studies
- Design and Decorative Art Studies
- Early Modern and Medieval Art
- Museums and Collections

Article 2.3  Achievement Levels

Graduates of the programmes will have reached the following achievement levels:

Specialisation: Architecture

The master’s graduates demonstrate, in their written and oral work:

I. Knowledge and understanding

1. Advanced knowledge of and insight into one or a number of topics or themes/perspectives Architecture;
2. Thorough and active knowledge of and insight into the core concepts, research methods and current scientific discussions, with respect to a topic or theme/perspective within Architecture;
3. an in-depth knowledge of the relevant contexts, cultural, ideological, religious or scientific, of the construction, use and reception of Architecture and its impact on society;
4. knowledge and understanding of current discussions within the history of architecture and its theory, and the interdisciplinary aspects of Architecture. The specialisation is understood here as a broad, interdisciplinary, and intercultural field of inquiry into artistic and cultural practices.

II. Applying knowledge and understanding

The master’s graduates show, in their written and oral work, the ability to:

5. define a research topic, formulate research questions and identify an object of inquiry (a corpus of art works or cultural practices related to art) that will allow them to answer these research questions in a way that conforms with current scholarly practices in the history of Architecture. Analyse and critically assess the theories and practices of Architecture;
6. select an appropriate body of theory for the analysis and interpretation of the object of inquiry, so that innovative answers to the research question can be given; understand the social and historical dimensions of the topic of inquiry within the field of Architecture;
7. contribute creative solutions to on-going debates in the discipline of Architecture, based on independent research and theoretical reflection. Understand the social and historical dimensions of both the researched works of art or practices and their theoretical approaches;

III. Making judgements
The master’s graduates demonstrate, in their written and oral work:

8. The ability to find and search through primary and secondary, modern and historical sources, collections of images, repertories and lexicons using traditional and digital techniques, and to make independent and critical selections from these sources from the perspective of a research question, partially based on the sources’ quality, reliability and theoretical and/or historical context;

9. The ability to report on one’s own research in a well-argued essay, in comparison with other perspectives, movements, etc. and with conclusions and suggestions for future research;

10. The ability through practice to use and integrate images from the visual and spatial imaginative space in an essay in such a way that they clarify and/or strengthen this essay;

IV. Communication
The master’s graduates demonstrate, in their written and oral work:

11. The ability to give a clear and well-argued presentation in preferably in English or Dutch, orally or in writing, about one’s own research results or those of others in front of an academic or a lay audience;

12. The ability to participate in a constructive and critical manner in a scientific discussion, preferably in English, orally or in writing; to take up and defend a position, as well as to question and revise both one’s own position and that of others on the basis of arguments;

13. The ability to write grammatically correct English or Dutch; and to use and be consistent to a reference system according to the conventions of the MA Arts & Culture Style Sheet.

V. Learning skills
The master’s graduates demonstrate, in their written and oral work:

14. The ability to enter into a post-master’s professional programme or PhD programme that is largely self-led;

15. Awareness of the importance of reading skills in another language or an older period of the Dutch language if required by the primary sources for research;

16. (Applicable if the free component of 10 credits is filled with an internship:) the ability to independently complete content-related tasks in a field relevant to one’s field of research on a level matching the specialisation and study programme and to relate these concrete tasks to a general project goal.

A minimum of 45 EC in your chosen specialisation is required in order to meet the demands of the specialisation. The easiest way to do this is to take:
- 2 compulsory research seminars in your specialisation (10 EC each = 20 EC total) either in the same semester or one seminar in each semester
- Thesis seminar (5 ec)
- Thesis (20 EC)

An internship of 10 EC may be chosen in your field of specialisation as well. An internship can only be extended with 10 EC extra curricular to 20 EC max.

The Free Component can be completed either in the first semester (in case the Research Seminars are divided per semester), or in the second semester (in case you take both Research Seminars in the first semester)
