Course and Examination Regulations

valid as of 1 September 2015

Programme-specific section:

Master's Programme: History

These course and examination regulations have been drawn up in accordance with Section 7.13 of the Higher Education and Research Act [Wet op het hoger onderwijs en wetenschappelijk onderzoek] (WHW) (henceforth the Act) and additional quality marks as set out in the framework document Leiden University Register of Study Programmes [Leids universitair register opleidingen].

Pursuant to Section 7.14 of the Act the Faculty Board regularly evaluates the course and examination regulations and assesses, for the purpose of monitoring and, if necessary, adjusting the study load, the time it takes students to comply with the regulations. In conformity with Section 9.18 of the Act, the department teaching committee is assigned the task of annually assessing how the course and examination regulations are implemented.

These course and examination regulations consist of two sections: a general section that is the same for all programmes and a section that contains information that is specific to a particular programme. This programme-specific section forms a whole with the general section, and only contains the articles with content that is specific to a particular programme.

I. Knowledge

Graduates of the programme will have reached the following:

1. Thorough knowledge and comprehension of one of the specialisations or subtracks as well as of the historiography of the specialisation, focusing particularly on the following:
  - in the specialisation Ancient History: unification processes in the Graeco-Roman World, 400 BC – 400 AD; insight into the recent large-scale debates in the field with respect to both the history of mentality and socio-economic history;
  - in the specialisation Colonial and Global History: how global (political, socio-economic, and cultural) connections interact with regional processes of identity and state formation; hence insight in cross-cultural processes (including the infrastructure of shipping and other modes of communication) that affect regions across the world such as imperialism, colonisation, islamisation, modernisation and globalization (in particular during the period 1200-1940);
  - in the subtrack Maritime History also: the development of maritime history from the 16th century onwards; insight into recent issues in the field;

- in the specialisation Europe 1000-1800: broader processes of political, social and cultural identity formation between about 1000-1800; awareness of problems of periodization and impact of 'national' historiographical traditions on the field;
  - in the specialisation Migration and Global Interdependence: the manner in which migrations (of people, goods and ideas) between and within states have led to shifts (in cohesion, ethnic composition, policies, imaging, culture, and power relations) in the period 1600-2000, with a focus on (urban) networks (within and across borders);
  - in the subtrack Economic History also: the origin and outcomes of the Great Divergence, developments in political economy since ca 1600, increasing global interdependence throughout the centuries, the development of global governance in the twentieth century, as well as the most important debates in recent Economic History;
  - in the specialisation Political Culture and National Identities: political practices, symbols and perceptions, nationalism, and national identities in a cultural and societal context from 1800;
  - in the subtrack Political Debate also: political debates and debating styles in the Netherlands and abroad, both from a historical and a current perspective;
  - in the specialisation Archival Studies: archiving in a colonial context; insight into the significance of archiving processes for the way in which a society deals with its documentation heritage in general and its historical practice in particular; disclosure, including digital disclosure, of archives as part of the broader heritage sector;
  - in the specialisation Europaeum Programme European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris programme: state formation in Europe; European identity from a comparative perspective; the development of culture and society in Europe;
2. Thorough knowledge and comprehension of the theoretical, conceptual and methodological aspects of the specialisation or subtrack in question, with a particular focus on the following:
- in the specialisation Ancient History: the comparative method; application of socio-scientific methods; specialised source knowledge, in particular of documentary sources, and more specifically epigraphy;
  - in the specialisation Colonial and Global History: empirical research from a comparative and connective perspective;
  - in the subtrack Maritime History also: comparative research; archive research;
  - in the specialisation Europe 1000-1800: the ability to analyse and evaluate primary sources from the period, if necessary with the aid of modern translations; ability to make use of relevant methods of quantitative and qualitative analysis to interpret sources in their textual and historical context;
  - in the specialisation Migration and Global Interdependence: the interdisciplinary approach (application of theories and methods from social sciences), the comparative perspective (diachronic and synchronic) and working with a large variety of primary sources;
  - in the subtrack Economic History also: the application of economic concepts, research methods or models; insight into the argumentation of current debates;
  - in the specialisation Political Culture and National Identities: international comparison and transfer; the analysis of the specific perspectives of secondary studies; a cultural-historical approach of politics and a political-historical approach of culture;
  - in the subtrack Political Debate also: historical and interdisciplinary analysis of political argumentation and rhetoric;
  - in the specialisation Archival Studies: theoretical foundations of archivistics; assessment and selection of archives;

- in the specialisation Europaeum Programme European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris programme: international comparison; archive research; the perspective of three different traditions – Leiden, Sorbonne and Oxford;

II. Skills

Graduates of this programme will have reached the following academic skills at a level that builds on and exceeds the level reached in their previous education:

1. The ability to independently identify and select literature, using traditional and modern techniques;
2. The ability to independently identify and select sources, using traditional and modern techniques;
3. The ability to analyse and evaluate a corpus of sources with a view to addressing a particular historical problem;
4. The ability to analyse and evaluate literature with a view to addressing a particular historical problem;
5. The ability to independently formulate a clear and well-argued research question, taking into account the theory and method of the field and to reduce this question to accessible and manageable sub-questions;
6. The ability to independently set up and carry out an original research project that can make a contribution to existing scholarly debates;
7. The ability to give a clear and well-founded oral and written report on research results in correct English, when required, or Dutch, meeting the criteria of the discipline;
8. The ability to participate in current debates in the specialisation;
9. The ability to apply knowledge and understanding, and problem solving abilities in new or unfamiliar environments within broader (or multidisciplinary) contexts related to the field of study.

III. Academic attitude

Graduates of this programme will have reached the following:

1. The ability to integrate knowledge and handle complexity, and formulate judgments with incomplete or limited information, including the ability to reflect on social and ethical responsibilities linked to the application of knowledge and judgments;
2. The ability to reflect on one's own professional integrity and moral conduct;
3. The ability to provide constructive feedback to and formulate criticism of the work of others and the ability to evaluate the value of such criticism and feedback on one's own work and incorporate it;
4. Understanding of the relevance for society of the historical discipline in general and the specialisation in particular.

Article 2.5 Study Load

The programme has a study load of 60 credits.

Article 2.8 Language of Instruction

In compliance with the Code of Conduct regarding Language of Instruction [Gedragscode voertaal<sup>1</sup>] the language of instruction and examination of the programme is English. Students are expected to have an adequate command of the language of instruction of the programme.

<sup>1</sup> The Code of Conduct on the Language of Instruction and Examination [Gedragscode voertaal] was adopted by the Executive Board on 28 May 2013 and can be found on the following website: media.leidenuniv.nl/legacy/language of instruction.pdf.

Article 3.1 Compulsory Components

3.1.1 The programme includes compulsory components totalling a study load of 60 credits. These compulsory components include the optional courses [keuzevakken] from which a student is obliged to choose.

Article 4.2 Obligatory Order

4.2.1 Not applicable.

Article 4.3 Examination Formats

4.3.7 The MA History is rounded off with an oral examination, during a public ceremony, in which students have to defend their MA thesis and be able to discuss additional scholarly literature. The Board of Examiners includes the performance in this oral examination in its considerations in deciding on awarding a distinction as referred to in article 4.12.6. According to article 4.12.8 the Board of Examiners can hereby not deviate by more than 0.5 point from the distinction indicated by the weighted average.

Article 5.2 Admission to the academic year 2015-2016

5.2.1 Without prejudice to the stipulations of Article 5.1.1 regarding maximum capacity, persons who are in possession of (one of) the following degree(s) are granted direct admission to (a specialisation of) the programme:

Specialisation Master	Admission on the basis of Bachelor programme
all specialisations	History (Leiden University) Liberal Arts and Sciences: Global Challenges: Human Interaction (Leiden University)
Ancient History	Ancient Cultures of the Mediterranean World (Leiden University)

5.2.2 Without prejudice to the stipulations in Article 5.1.1 regarding maximum capacity, persons who do not meet the entry requirements set in 5.2.1 will be granted admission to the programme, if they:

- have earned the degree of Bachelor at a university, not being a university of professional education, equivalent to the level of a Dutch academic Bachelor's degree, or demonstrate to meet the requirements for such a degree, including the General Academic Skills listed in Appendix C; and
- are sufficiently proficient in the language of instruction, to be assessed by the Faculty Board (English IELTS 7.0, TOEFL 100 (internet-based) or Cambridge English: Proficiency (CPE)); and
- possess comparable qualities in the field of knowledge, understanding and skills with those acquired upon graduating from the bachelor's programme referred to in article 5.2.1, specifically students should:
  - be able to conduct independent empirical research;
  - be able read academic literature and reflect critically on it;
  - have a knowledge of general history and be able to present their findings (based on a critical reading of the literature or based on empirical research) in a systematic and analytical manner;
  - be able to write a thesis with proper references to the literature.

Applicants who are in possession of a Bachelor's degree in Languages and Cultures of South and Southeast Asia from Leiden University, including the combined programme in History worth 60 credits, are considered to have fulfilled these requirements.

Applicants who are in possession of a Bachelor's degree in International Studies from Leiden University and who

- wrote their BA Thesis on a historical subject, and

- completed the following optional courses which are part of the Bachelor's programme History:
  - Werkcollege 1 or Werkcollege 2 (second year) (10 EC)
  - Historiografie en geschiedfilosofie (second year) (5 EC)
  - Seminar (third year) (10 EC)

are considered to have fulfilled these requirements.

5.2.3 Not applicable.

Article 5.3 Admission to the academic year 2016-2017

5.3.1 Without prejudice to the stipulations of Article 5.1.1 regarding maximum capacity, persons who are in possession of (one of) the following degree(s) are granted direct admission to (a specialisation of) the programme:

Specialisation Master	Admission on the basis of Bachelor programme
all specialisations, except MA Europaeum: European History and Civilization	History (Leiden University) Liberal Arts and Sciences: Global Challenges with a Major in Human Diversity or World Politics and having completed the track in history within that major (Leiden University)
Ancient History	Ancient Cultures of the Mediterranean World (Leiden University)
Europaeum Programme European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris programme	No direct admittance

5.3.2 Without prejudice to the stipulations in Article 5.1.1 regarding maximum capacity, persons who do not meet the entry requirements set in 5.3.1 will be granted admission to the programme, if they:

- have earned the degree of Bachelor at a university, equivalent to the level of a Dutch academic Bachelor's degree, or demonstrate to meet the requirements for such a degree, including the General Academic Skills listed in Appendix C; and
- are sufficiently proficient in the language of instruction, to be assessed by the Faculty Board (English IELTS 7.0, TOEFL 100 (internet-based) or Cambridge English: Proficiency (CPE)); and
- possess comparable qualities in the field of knowledge, understanding and skills with those acquired upon graduating from the bachelor's programme referred to in article 5.3.1, specifically students should:
  - have completed historical courses on relevant topics for the chosen specialisation and of sufficient level, to an equivalent of approximately 45 EC;
  - be able to conduct independent empirical research;
  - be able read academic literature and reflect critically on it;
  - have a knowledge of general history and be able to present their findings (based on a critical reading of the literature or based on empirical research) in a systematic and analytical manner;
  - be able to write a thesis with proper references to the literature.

Applicants may be asked to submit a writing sample, proving the aforementioned qualities in the field of knowledge, understanding and skills.

Applicants who are in possession of a Bachelor's degree in Languages and Cultures of South and Southeast Asia from Leiden University, including the combined programme in History worth 60 credits, are considered to have fulfilled these requirements.

Applicants who are in possession of a Bachelor's degree in International Studies from Leiden University and who

- wrote their BA Thesis on a historical subject, and
- completed the following optional courses which are part of the Bachelor's programme History:
  - BA-Werkcollege (BA History, second year) or Elective on historical subject (BA International Studies, second year) (10 EC)
  - Historiografie en geschiedfilosofie (BA History, second year) (5 EC)
  - BA-Seminar (BA History, third year) or Elective on historical subject (BA International Studies, third year) (10 EC) are considered to have fulfilled these requirements.

5.3.3 In addition to the requirements set out in 5.3.2, the following additional entry requirements apply to the specialisation MA Europaeum: European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris Programme:

- applicants are expected to have completed their BA-degree or its equivalent, as specified in Article 5.3.2, with good results.
- in their previous education applicants have acquired knowledge and skills that are relevant to the theme of the specialisation MA Europaeum: European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris Programme. The documents that are to be submitted with the application should demonstrate the student's relevant knowledge and skills:
  - An academic CV (including activities such as student board membership, internships and work experience);
  - Transcripts of the curriculum of previously completed BA- and/or MA-programmes;
  - A motivational letter;
  - Two academic letters of recommendation in English from instructors that are acquainted with the academic work of the applicant;
  - A thesis proposal (ca. 1500 words).
  - Two samples of academic writing (such as chapters, essays, theses) in English.

For this specialisation a maximum capacity applies, as specified in appendix F.

Article 5.5 Bridging Programmes (Premaster)

5.5.1 The programme has established the following bridging programme, or premaster, in order to remedy deficiencies:

The Premaster History (language of instruction: Dutch) is primarily intended for students with a Bachelor's degree from a university of professional education [HBO] in History (lower secondary education certificate, tweedegraads). After completing this bridging programme students will be admitted to the Master's programme in History. The total study load of the bridging programme is 60 credits and consists of the following components from the Bachelor's programme History:

First semester	Second semester
Werkcollege 1* (10 EC)	Seminar * (10 EC)
Kerncurriculum: Wetenschapsfilosofie (5 EC)	Historiografie en geschiedfilosofie (5 EC)
Kerncollege BA2: De grenzen van de macht (5 EC)	BA-Eindwerkstuk Geschiedenis (15 EC)

Hoorcollege 1 * (5 EC)
Hulpvak 1 * (5 EC)

* See appendix E of the Course and Examination Regulations of the bachelor History for the specific range of courses for these components.

5.5.2 Information regarding the bridging programmes can be requested from the coordinator of studies of the programme.

Appendix F - Maximum capacity and admission procedure MA Europaeum: European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris Programme

Article 1 Maximum Capacity

1. The Faculty Board has set the maximum capacity for the specialisation MA Europaeum: European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris Programme of the master's programme in History for the academic year 2016-2017 to 10 students.

2. The Admissions Board, consisting of staff members of Leiden University, Université Paris I – Panthéon/Sorbonne and the University of Oxford, ranks the requests on the basis of the selection criteria stated in art. 5.3 of the Course and Examination Regulations.

Article 2 Procedure for admission to MA Europaeum: European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris Programme

1. The admissions assessment for the specialisation of the master's programme in respect of the intake in September takes place in two rounds of assessment: in April (pre-selection non-EU applicants) and June (assessment EU applicants and remaining non-EU applicants, as referred to in Article 2.5.b. below).

2. Requests for admission to the specialisation MA Europaeum: European History and Civilisation: Leiden-Oxford-Paris Programme must be submitted before 1 April (non-EU citizens) or 1 June (EU citizens). Given the selective nature of the specialisation, this deadline applies to all applicants.

3. With regard to admission to the programme, as provided for in article 5.3 of the Course and Examination Regulations, the Admissions Board assesses the knowledge and skills of the applicants on the basis of the files they have submitted.

4. If necessary, the Admissions Board can contact the applicant by mail or telephone at any time during the admission procedure to gain further information.

5. The Admissions Board decides on the basis of the pre-selection in April:

- a) which of the non-EU applicants (to a maximum of 3) may be directly admitted into the programme after the pre-selection in April;
- b) which non-EU applicants meet the entry requirements, but are not directly admitted into the programme – their applications are considered again in June, together with the applications from EU citizens.
- c) which applicants cannot be admitted because they do not meet the requirements.

6. The Admissions Board decides on the basis of the assessment in June:

- a) which applicants meet the entry requirements for the specialisation – if appropriate on the condition that they have been awarded their bachelor’s degree in time – and can in principle be admitted;
- b) which applicants cannot be admitted because they do not meet the requirements.

7. Applicants who are placed in category 5a. receive a positive admissions decision by 15 May (non-EU citizens); those in category 5b. will be informed about the continuation of the selection procedure by 15 May.

8. Applicants who are placed in category 5c. receive a negative admissions decision by 15 May (non-EU citizens); those in category 6b. by 1 July (EU citizens).

9. The Admissions Board ranks the applicants in category 5b. and 6a. on the basis of their suitability to the specialisation, in regard to the entry requirements as specified in article 5.3 of the Course and Examination Regulations, the files the applicants have submitted, and, if the committee has requested this, the further information provided by the applicant.

10. On the basis of the ranking list in accordance with article 2.8 above the Admissions Board issues a recommendation on 1 July at the latest to the Faculty Board to admit the top ranking applicants to the programme, up to the numbers specified in article 1.1. These applicants receive a positive admissions decision on 15 July at the latest.

11. The remaining applicants in category 5b. and 6a. are informed that they are in principle admissible to the programme but that they have been placed on the waiting list and will not receive an admissions decision pending places becoming free. They are informed of their position on the waiting list.

12. Applicants who have received a positive admissions decision must express whether they will enrol the programme within two weeks of the date of the decision. If an applicant does not indicate within this period whether he or she will enrol the programme, he or she loses his or her place and the applicant at the top of the waiting list will receive a positive admissions decision.
